Editorial:

Remember kids, the Omen loves you.

Hello, friends! This is your Omen signer and newly claimed Omen editor here, wanting to wish you a happy Valentine's day, a happy week, and a happy February. As silly as Valentine's day can be, full of overpriced chocolates, Hallmark greeting cards, and unrealistic expectations that also occasionally contribute to heteronormative expectations of the display of romantic affection (what a Hampshire sentence. Proud of myself for that one.), if you choose to look at February 14th as something else, then it doesn't have to be so absurd.

I've always been a little wary of celebrating Valentine's day, both as a foreveralone and since I've been in a relationship, simply because I'm of the opinion that love should be expressed on a daily basis, and not just on one particular day of the year. However, a little extra love here and there can never hurt, so I've lightened up a little and realized that I can make Valentine's day wonderful if I choose to. I no longer shake my head when I walk into CVS and let my eyes fall upon multiple shelves filled with chocolate boxes wrapped in red tissue paper. I realized one year, hey! I fucking love chocolate! Also, as corny as some of it may be, hearts are cute. And love can be, too. And you don't need to limit yourself to one special someone to celebrate Valentine's day with. You can wish your friends and parents and everyone else a happy day! Or, you know, you can stick to one person! The beauty is, it's up to you!

What I'm trying to get across is the idea that a silly "holiday" made up by a greeting card company to make bigger profits for corporations selling chocolate, flowers, balloons, etc. doesn't need to be treated as what it traditionally has been known as. Don't like chocolate like I do? Buy someone a hat if they've been feeling spoiled in this year's New England weather and aren't prepared for the rare days that are below thirty degrees. Swipe someone into Saga. Write happy little notes and slip them into the mailboxes of random students you've never spoken to before. Or just do something you might normally not do very much to make someone's day a little brighter. Hold the door open for someone. Pick up your goddamn cigarette butt or broken beer bottle so the adorable bare feet don't step in anything. You don't need to adhere to the "norms" of the day if you don't want to! Turn Valentine's day into something lovely!

Moral of the story: love is fun. Whether it's love for a significant other, best friend, acquaintance, stranger, pet, parent, sibling, certain campus publication...

Love is fun! And even if you believe, like me, that we shouldn't have to have a day of love, that 365 days a year should be filled with love, you can't deny that sometimes, some people forget that. Some folks forget to love. So if they need a little reminder once a year, so be it.

And, as I'm writing this, realizing that Valentine's day will have already passed when you read this, I can only ask you one favor: treat today as a second Valentine's day. In other words, treat today, treat this editorial, as an extra little reminder to LOVE.

The Omen loves you, and I love you.

Well hello Omen readers!

Do you like singers? Folk music? Pete Seeger? Aunts and uncles? The movie "A Mighty Wind"?

If you said yes to any of the above questions, check out this video my uncle made on the Walkabout Clearwater Chorus! It's a group that was founded in the 1980s by Pete Seeger that goes around to various festivals and schools and whatnot singing songs about environmental and social justice.

Special Valentines' Week

Love Horoscopes

by Greg Larsen

Vol. 38, #2

Scorpio (Oct. 23rd -- Nov. 21st): You will get a little carried away while acting out your Salem Witch Trial fantasy this week, with the ensuing moral panic claiming several lives and the moral integrity of your society. But it'll be magical in ways that Goody Proctor could only have dreamed of.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22nd -- Dec. 21st): You will find/ may have already found a person who is interested in things that roughly complement those which you are interested in at some point in the future. You will do things with them for a while. Things will progress in a manner not dissimilar to many other similar interactions.

Capricorn (Dec. 22nd -- Jan. 19th): A strong relationship can weather floods, fires, and plagues, but before the locusts start showing up and the moon turns blood red later on this week, you might want to think about breaking it off.

Aquarius (Jan. 20th -- Feb. 18th): Sea stars distend their stomachs out of their mouths to surround and digest their prey, which primarily consists of mussels, clams, and other shellfish. The stars couldn't have produced a more apt metaphor for your sex life is this coming year.

Pisces (Feb. 19th -- Mar. 20th): Screw love. You have zombies to kill.

Aries (Mar. 21st -- Apr. 19th): You never really know what you have until life takes it away, say the stars. You're going to be learning a lot more about your heart soon, and in a far more literal sense than you might prefer.

Taurus (Apr. 20th -- May 20th): This is the year to finally declare your love for violent post-holiday consumption. Make it a display that the world will never forget - that candy's half-off, and there's a fuckton of it.

Gemini (May 21st -- Jun. 21st): Something new and exciting is in the stars for you, Gemini! Here's hoping you share that special someone's balloon fetish!

Cancer (Jun. 22nd - Jul. 22nd): Maybe Valentine's Day wasn't for you this year. Like most Cancers who have had a rough patch, you snap at tender feet when they disturb you in your sandy hideout. Go have a drink with some friends. You don't need anyone. You're a strong, independent crab!

Leo (Jul. 23rd -- Aug. 22nd): You'll really be on fire this week, Leo, especially in your sex life. A coordinated, well-organized team of Aquarii could probably help get your burning passion under control, if you're into that sort of thing.

Virgo (Aug. 23rd -- Sep. 22nd): Your new fling/thing is fantastic! You even share the same allergies! The circumstances in which you first experience that particular fact might get a little uncomfortable, but it'll make a great story later on.

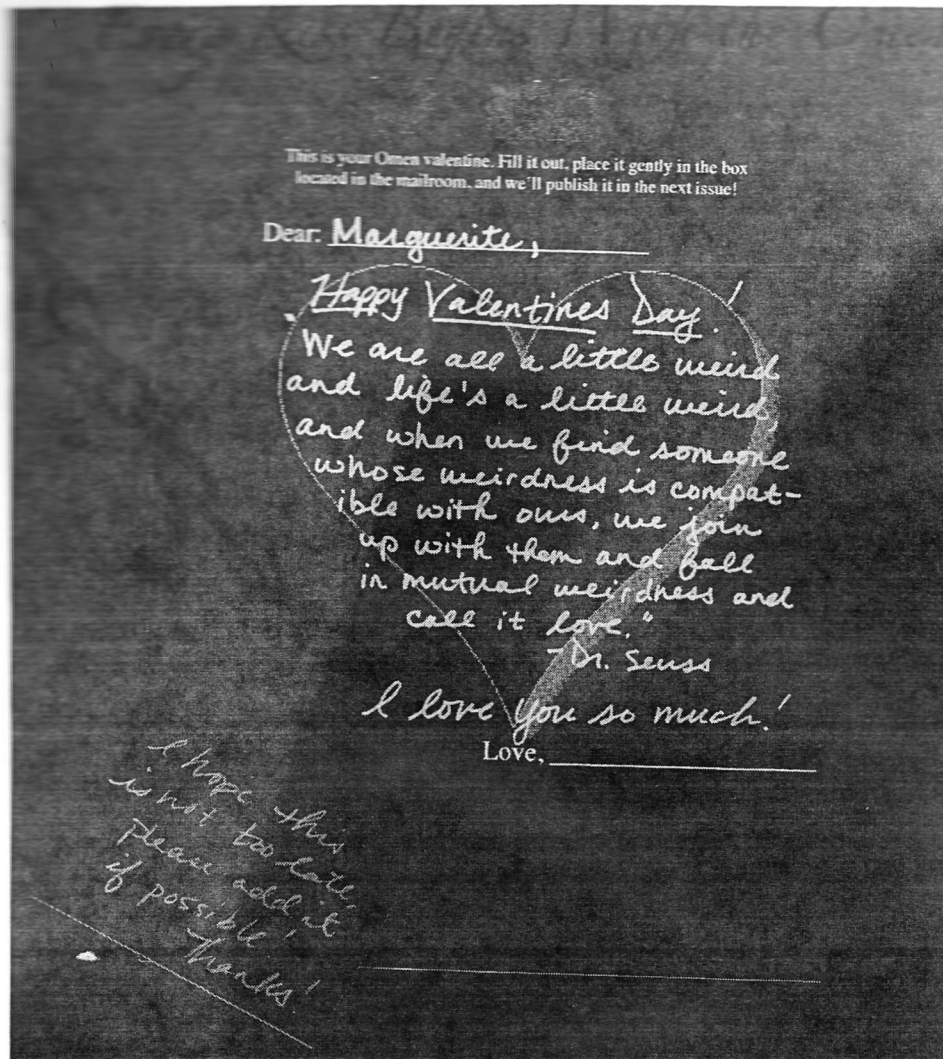

Libra (Sep. 23rd -- Oct. 22nd): As a Libra, your passiveness and aggressiveness are expertly and cosmically aligned. Yours will be the breakup to end all breakups - your spurned ex shall drown in a sea of notes, unclear facial expressions, and soul-rending friendly reminders. And victory, of a sort, will be yours. Savor it.

post-script-

it's never too late for love

Vol. 38. #2

Hey Omenites-

You may have noticed we have TWO issues this week- and that we're a little late. That's because you sent SO MANY valentines, and have SO MUCH love, we couldn't get them all printed in one issue. We've made sure both issues are packed to the brim with different valentines, so please pick up one of each issue- or share your issue with a friend, new or old, who has the other half.

Love,
